Elmhurst Mutual Power & Light Company and Bonneville Power Administration will introduce Energy Smart Commercial Lighting, a new program that will help business customers lower their energy bills and improve lighting. The announcement will be made at the July 28, 7:30 AM meeting at Krickett’s Family Restaurant at 14815 Pacific Ave. S Tacoma. There will be a FREE hearty breakfast provided.

The program, co-sponsored by the Bonneville Power Administration, offers a FREE lighting analysis and cash incentives of up to 70% of the installed cost for qualified projects. Electrical contractors, distributors and lighting companies from the Tacoma area will provide installation services and support to complete customer approved projects.

“There may never be a better time to take advantage of energy efficient building improvement incentives,” said Dan Brooks, General Manager at Elmhurst Mutual. “We encourage you to come to this event to learn how this new program works.”
